Shreya Patel and Brijesh Malkani were married on September 23rd in Charleston, South Carolina. The bride is the daughter of Mr. Vinod and Mrs. Daxa Patel of Gujarat, India and the groom is the son of Mr. Mukesh and Mrs. Varsha Malkani of Mumbai, India. The wedding was held at Charles Towne Landing with the ceremony in the Avenue of the Oaks, cocktails at Legare Waring House and reception at Founders Hall. The design was a blend of modern Indian with elements of southern charm, including warm, inviting colors of champagne, gold, coral and plum. The couple reflected their Indian heritage with a custom

'mandap' (traditional Indian four-post stage) by RLE Charleston. Personalized details included wedding programs drawn by the bride and a henna-inspired cake by Jim Smeal. Following the ceremony, guests enjoyed Indian-Southern fusion appetizers before moving to a modern indoor space for a seated Indian dinner. Close friends provided entertainment throughout dinner and guests danced late into the night. The couple honeymooned in Morocco and Italy and currently resides in New York City.
